

Compassionate Use/Expanded Access

Patients who choose to participate in our clinical trials play a critical role in helping develop new treatment therapies. While we do not currently offer investigational therapies outside of our clinical trials, you and your physician may determine that enrolling in a trial may be an option for you. For more information about Menlo's ongoing clinical trial programs, including whether enrollment is currently open, please review our open trials. Your physician may also contact Menlo for clinical trial eligibility information by calling us at 1-844-375-3673.
